- You are really sweet, and you have something that made others happy.
- I like that you don't care what other people think about you. When you are around other people, they can't help but smile. You really care for others. ☺
- You always have a nice thing to say. You're kind, sincere, and creative. You always laugh at my jokes. You know a lot of good books. You are always willing to help others. I'm proud to call you a true friend!
- You are a very unique individual I really like that so don't change.
- Sometimes you can say the funniest things and other times you say the weirdest things, but that fits you just right.
- You are such a unique individual. I hope that you never lose that. I hope you continue to be confident in who you are; it helps add color to our world. Keep pushing; don't settle for less than what you can accomplish, and make sure you never stop writing... it is one of your gifts. You are very creative and I have enjoyed teaching you this year.
